

1 . What choices was Hamlet pondering in his "To be or not to be?" soliloquy?

- Hamlet was speaking to himself with the curiousness whether he should live or not to live. He is suffering with his father's death and his mother's new marriage. He think his life is worthless and full of pain therefore he wondered what would he feel if he is dead. Would the pain still remains or it would be fully recovered? He questions whether death may be worse than living with his problems. That's the question that no one could answer because when people is dead they are dead. They don't get a chance to come back and tell others what would it be after they are dead.

2. What challenge did he face in his life at that time?
What would you have done in his situation?

- Hamlet faces a tragic situation about his father's death and a bitter position about his mother remarried his own uncle.

3 .What did Hamlet decide to do? What things did he do (or not do) that eventually led to the tragic end of the play?

- He decided to revenge for his father. He tried to murder Claudius but before his success, he had to forsake all whom he loved like his mother, his girlfriend or even himself. He pretended to be mad and had killed Polonius, his girlfriend's father, mistakenly. His actions brought him a losing of people whom he loved and finally, he also lost his life.

4. What do his actions say of his personality? What kind of man was Hamlet?

- Hamlet is a very emotional man according to his father's death , he could not get over it . He start to be pessimistic and desperate about his unfortunate life. Hamlet need a revenge for his father's dead so he create an performance to show in front of his uncle who killed his father. He has also a bad temper which easily to get angry some people think he is mad and insane according to his actions. On the other hand Hamlet is a brave man, he not afraid to find out the truth of his father and challenge fight from Laertes.

5 . Do you think Hamlet was overcome with insanity during the course of the play?

- I think Hemlet is not insane but he pretended to be insane , although he had done many unusual things that people with a normal mind would not done. He have to act like he is insane in order to decrease people attention, on one would doubt in his action because he is insane.

But after a while I think Hamlet started to be insane . After all the bad things that he had been through , it must somehow affected Hemlet's mind and emotion. He thinks his action is an act but maybe it could be his real action that come from the inside of his soul.