For my viewpoint on this issue, I think the acceptance of LGBTI people in Thai society is still unclear because Thai people accept LGBTI people who are not members of their families rather than those who are members of their families so the discrimination of LGBTI in Thailand still exist. This affect the economic sector negatively due to the fall of economic productivity. The reason is discrimination of LGBTI make people in labour force decreased because they have been exploit. The government should adopt and implement clear, consistent, and comprehensive non-discrimination policies.
