

Topic: How the education in China influences economic growth?

Subtopic: How was the reform of education in 1980 affect the China economy?

: How is the wage related to the degree of education in China?

: How is the quality of instruction in the rural area of China?

Abstract:

Education is the sector that involves all the people in society. Education is an essential thing for humans to develop themselves. This research will find the relationship of education to economic growth. First, we looked at the reform of education in 1980. How did it happen, and what happened to the China economy then? Does education strongly impact the economy or not? And next, we will talk about the quality of education in rural areas. How was it good or did it have any reprove that makes the quality student to the society. The last subtopic will talk about the wage of an education degree. Due to the overpopulation of the people and too many labor laborers in the system, the unemployment of the people. If too many workers don't have work, create strikes in the economy