Semester 1/2021 (8 August – 26 November 2022)

Guidelines on Group Work and Presentation

Objective

The group presentation is intended to foster collaboration among students in selecting an appropriate topic based on course readings and lectures, analyze the key issues, propose recommendations to address the issues and present the findings to the class. Group work will involve from 5 to 7 students per group;¹ each group member is expected to contribute to the discussions, analyses, and overall presentation.

Topic selection

The selected topic will draw from a particular development sector (agriculture, education, health, transport, urban development, or trade) or cross-cutting theme (gender, environment, climate change) in one a particular country. The group will conduct a brief research on the context (country and sector/cross-cutting theme) with a historical timeframe of post World War II until the present.

Group work

Once the topic is selected and agreed upon by group members, the group will discuss and analyze the country/sector, which will include, but not limited to: (i) overview of the country and sector, (ii) identification of key issues and challenges, (iii) identification of main development of strategies/policies and/or laws/regulations passed or issued by the government and various development actors involved (such as government, the private sector, international financing institutions, and multinational corporations), along with their roles, (iv) outcome – whether successful or failed, and lessons learned from the experience, and (v) conclusion. This will require some literature search and group discussions.

The group will put together a report of between a minimum of 6 pages and a maximum of 9 pages and PowerPoint slides (minimum of 8 slides and maximum of 12 slides) which will be presented in class.

¹ If there are more than 7 students, I suggest to divide students into two groups.

Outline and Format of Report

The report will follow the format below:

Overview (2-3 pages). A brief background/history of the overall country, the sector/thematic area and overall economic performance. Include data/graphs as needed, economic and social indicators as well as sector indicators. Please indicate why the topic is important; include data/graphs/tables/maps as needed, economic and social indicators as well as sector indicators to provide an idea of the progress status of the sector within the overall country context. The topic may be inspired by what we learned in class; day-to-day events that students read in the newspaper; or economic issues that the group is interested in, which relates to economic development and globalization. For example a topic may look at (i) what factors led to the economic development or stagnation of a particular country; or (ii) it may analyze agricultural development and what government policies were in place to enable rapid agricultural growth; or (iii) demographic shifts and effects on disease patterns. Several examples of possible topics (based on what students learn in class):

- Economic growth/development in India
- Demographic change and shifts in disease patterns in Japan
- Factors affecting agricultural productivity in Vietnam
- Achieving universal secondary education in Cambodia
- Urban growth and spatial development in PR China

Key Issues and Challenges (2-3 pages). This will require several literature sources and cross checking of information/data since there may be differences depending on the source. The group will highlight and focus on key 3-4 issues.

Government/State Strategies, Policies and Legislation (1-2 pages). Identify several key instruments (policies or strategies) undertaken by the government that is relevant to the sector and discuss why these were pursued.

Conclusion (1 page). Summarize the key findings. Distill some lessons learned and discuss what experiences tell us and indicate what worked and what did not work and why.

The following format will apply:
