(2) Criminal state of Mind (mens rea=guilty mind)

(3) Causation

4. Elements of Crime

General rule: A crime is defined in terms of act.
Intent alone poses an insufficient danger to society
to justify criminal liability.

E.g. Aj. P wanted to kill Miss X. She noted down her intention on her mobile phone, so she did not forget.

4. Elements of Crime

(1) Criminal act

- Act (Affirmative physical Act)

- Omission/ Failure to act

Section 59 A person shall be criminally liable only when such person commits an act intentionally, except in case of the law provides that such person must be liable when such person commits an act by negligence, or except in case of the law clearly provides that such person must be liable even though such person commits an act unintentionally.

To commit an act intentionally is to do an act consciously and at the same time the doer desired or could have foreseen the effect of such doing.

If the doer does not know the facts constituting the elements of the offence, it cannot be deemed that the doer desired or could have foreseen the effect of such doing.

To commit an act by negligence is to commit an offence unintentionally but without exercising such care as might be expected from a person under such condition and circumstances, and the doer could exercise such care but did not do so sufficiently.

An act shall also include any consequence brought about by the omission to do an act which must be done in order to prevent such consequence.

4. Elements of Crime

Example 1: A posted on his Facebook that he was considering to kill B.

Example 2: A drove recklessly and crashed B; B died afterwards.

Example 3: A, a life guard, did not rescue B, who was drowning in a pool while A was on duty, because he wanted to kill him. As a consequence B died.
