

1. What choices was Hamlet pondering in his "To be or not to be?" soliloquy?

He has to choose between murdering Claudius who murdered his father or not murdering. Did he make the right choice?

2. What challenge did he face in his life at that time? What would you have done in his situation?

-His father was assassinated by his uncle, whom set himself as a new king. And in the same month he married his mother.

-I decide not to kill because I think it will be better if we let the anger go and I will travel far away to learn more about this world. This will make me more rational thinking.

3. What did Hamlet decide to do? What things did he do (or not do) that eventually led to the tragic end of the play?

-He has two plans, at first he acted like he was crazy. Second he played his father's death to confirm what the ghost told is true. So, He decided to kill his uncle but unluckily he hurt the wrong person. And these led to vengeance and loss of everyone in the end.

-He kills Polonius who is his lover's father. Finally, his lover goes mad and draws herself.

4. What do his actions say of his personality? What kind of man was Hamlet?

- Hamlet didn't believe what the ghost said immediately. He had to prove by himself. He was very upset with his mother's behavior after his father's death and very sad with his father's death.

-He is a thoughtful person who does not believe other words too easily and he is a sensitive man.

5. Do you think Hamlet was overcome with insanity during the course of the play?

No, he is still insane. He cannot overcome with insanity. If he overcomes, there won't be any tragedy happen.
