

5404640418

Kunyaruk Naiyaraksaree

Hamlet Homework assignmet

What choice s was Hamlet pondering in his “To be or not to be?” soliloquy?

“Life or death”

Hamlet was pondering whether he should kill himself to get away from the pain he was now facing or not. In “To be or not to be?” soliloquy, he thought that most people choose to live than to die because they feared of the world after death.

What challenge did he face in his life at that time?

What would you have done in his situation?

The challenge that Hamlet faced at that time is the death of his father and Ophelia, woman he loved. The old king’s soul commanded him to revenge, however, Hamlet was confused that the old king’s soul was really his father or was not confused that he should revenge or not.

If I were Hamlet, I would have decided not to kill the uncle because revenge brings nothing except the pain.

What did Hamlet decide to do? What thing he do (or not do) that eventually led to the tragic end of the play?

Hamlet decided to live and perform the play about his father’s death to observe his uncle’s reaction to it. He accidentally killed Polonius, Laerters and Ophelia’s father, that then resulted to Ophelia’s death and Laerters’s revenge. Hamlet accept the challenge of Laerters, he won over the battle and Laerters told him his uncle’s plan to kill him, so Hamlet killed his uncle and died of poison in his wound.

What do his actions say of his personality? What kind of man was Hamlet?

For me, according to his actions, Hamlet was the considerate man that he was wondered about the old king's soul and felt no trust to the people around him after his father's death.

Do you think Hamlet was overcome with insanity during the course of the play?

No, he was not. Hamlet was still confused whether he should kill his uncle as the revenge of his father's death or not when he returned to Denmark, but, finally, he killed his uncle because Laerters revealed his uncle's plan.