

Comment for e-commerce's group result presentation.

The paper gave the real example of first degree price discrimination as they can literally capture all the event that required high quality light and sound services. The slide still shows the wrong information on the payback period, it is faster for oligopolistic firms but "lower" for fringe firm, and I think it should be "longer" in this case. The voice for second part is extremely low, this make it difficult to listen to the preliminary conclusion, especially when there's no information on that last conclusion slide.
