

A Career in Applied Economics.

“ ... by interning at Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada (AAFC), I put my rich academic background to work. Application of coursework is fundamental, and with MFRE, students have the chance to acquire it!”

– Charlie Tsao, 2011 graduating class

The University of British Columbia Masters in Food and Resource Economics

- 12 month intensive professional program
- Includes a 4 month paid internship
- 68% of 2012 graduating class polled secured jobs prior to graduation
- One of the world's top research universities
- UBC is accepting applications for Sept 2013
- Contact: sven.clarke@apro.ubc.ca ; www.landfood.ubc.ca

INFORMATION SESSION: Thursday, January 31, 2013

TIME: 12:30 – 1:30 PM

VENUE: Room 203, 2nd Fl, Faculty of Economics

a place of mind
THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA