

The Cambodian government agreed to build the dam which is a part of the BRI project. The Cambodian government should think about the opportunity cost that the country has to pay for the dam. The main cause is building the dam on agreement from the government. There are many problems. For example, citizens around the area that need to build the dam lost their home, job and food due to the dam disturb the fish direction. Fish is one of their main sources of income and food. They also have rice and forest products that are gone. So, people need to resettle their habitats. They do compensate for the community but it isn't enough for what they lose. It also use a lot of land for the dam due to the geography's Cambodia. It is a big disadvantages as mentioned before that the community lose their own living that they had in the past. The world have a good perspective for Beijing in the BRI project so, it may help Beijing in growing its economy. In conclusion, The Cambodian has to pay an opportunity cost for having part in building the dam by forcing the community to sacrifice their living.
