

From the UNDP (2019) study on Tolerance but not inclusion, what is your viewpoint on this issue? Discuss your view by including the forecasting impact on the economic sector and what policies government should implement to solve any challenges.

Personally, in my point of view, I do agree with the research that mentioned about the social attitudes towards lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender. The study shows that Thai attitudes towards LGBT people tend to accept LGBT people outside their families, rather than those in their own families. There are so many cases in Thailand in which LGBTQ+ are not acceptable among people in their families but got fully supported from other people such as friends.

My forecasting impact on economic sector is that if LGBTQ+ get supported by the government policy in equality in labor work force, the unemployment workers due to the sexual identity will decrease and the economic will improve better as there will be more new varied business from varied genders that are being accepted. The policies from government should focus and support on the equality in social status, labor work force and also should publish the policy that strictly protect the equality of LGBTQ+ and prevent them from any violence that may occurred.

6304641241

Punnada Sridilok