What choices was Hamlet pondering in his "To be or not to be?" soliloquy?

-There are choices between, is it the ghost of his father or not, and should he kill his uncle.

What challenge did he face in his life at that time?
What would you have done in his situation?

-He felt so stress about the death of his dad. This was the reason why he pretended to be an insane people to prove that his uncle kill his father. I would do the same if I'm in that situation.

What did Hamlet decide to do? What things did he do (or not do) that eventually led to the tragic end of the play?

-He decided to kill his uncle but finally he'd failed and the result was the death of a wrong man.

What do his actions say of his personality? What kind of man was Hamlet?

-He was a reasonable person. He's not dumb because he can study physiology. He did not believe the whole story that the ghost said to him, he prove it first.

Do you think Hamlet was overcome with insanity during the course of the play?

-No, He pretended to be insane just because he wanted to find the killer and prove that his uncle is.
