

School of Social Sciences

Graduate programmes

Young and research-intensive, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore (NTU Singapore) has 33,000 undergraduate and postgraduate students in engineering, business, science, humanities, arts, social sciences, education, and medicine.

The School of Social Sciences at NTU welcomes talented students to enrol in its postgraduate programmes in Economics, Psychology, Sociology and Public Policy & Global Affairs. Our distinguished faculty support our students in their development through a high degree of engagement. Foster camaraderie among outstanding peers in a rigorous intellectual environment offering global and comparative perspectives, broad-based thinking, multi-disciplinary approaches, cultural awareness, contemporary Asian relevance and international research network. Scholarships like the NTU Research Scholarship and Nanyang President's Graduate Scholarship, amongst other funding opportunities, are offered on a competitive basis.

Take this opportunity to work with globally renowned scholars. Our faculty have won a host of international awards, such as:

- Princeton Fung Global Fellowships
- Feminist Scholar Activist Award, American Sociological Association
- Fulbright Research Awards
- Vernon Smith Excellence Award in Experimental Finance
- Distinguished International Researcher Award for Young Psychologist, from Japanese Psychological Association
- Robert H. Durr Award, Midwest Political Science Association

Apply and embark on this exciting journey with us!

Programmes

Research

- M.A./Ph.D. in Psychology
- M.A./Ph.D. in Sociology
- Ph.D. in Economics
- Ph.D. in Public Policy & Global Affairs

Coursework

- M.Sc. in Applied Gerontology
- M.Sc. in Applied Economics