

Employee Motivation & Human Resources Management

BA291

Learning Objectives

1. Define motivation, and identify the classical motivation theories.
 2. Explain why many consider expectancy theory to be the best current explanation of employee motivation.
 3. Identify the strengths and weaknesses of goal-setting theory.
 4. Describe the job characteristics model, and explain how it helps predict motivation and performance.
 5. Define reinforcement theory, and differentiate between positive and negative reinforcement.
 6. List five human resources management functions.

What motivates you to perform at your best?

What Motivates Employees to Peak Performance?

- Motivation

- The combination of forces that move individuals to take certain actions and avoid other actions

- Engagement

- An employee's rational and emotional commitment to his or her work

Classical Theories of Motivation

- Scientific management

- A management approach designed to improve employees' efficiency by scientifically studying their work

The Hawthorne Studies and the “Hawthorne Effect”

- The Hawthorne effect

- A supposed effect of organizational research, in which employees change their behavior because they are being studied and given special treatment
- Validity of the effect is uncertain, and the Hawthorne studies were richer and more influential than this simple outcome would suggest

Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs

A model in which human needs are arranged in order of their priority, with the most basic needs at the bottom and the more advanced needs toward the top

Theory X & Y

Theory X

- A managerial assumption that employees are irresponsible, are unambitious, and dislike work and that managers must use force, control, or threats to motivate them

Theory Y

A managerial assumption that employees enjoy meaningful work, are naturally committed to certain goals, are capable of creativity, and seek out responsibility under the right conditions

10

Herzberg's Two Factors

- Herzberg's two-factor theory

- A model that divides motivational forces into satisfiers ("motivators") and dissatisfiers ("hygiene factors")

11

Herzberg's Two-Factor Theory

12

McClelland's Three Needs

- Three-needs theory

- David McClelland's model of motivation that highlights the needs for power, affiliation, and achievement

13

-End of classical theories-

Do you think today's college students more closely match the descriptions of Theory X employees or Theory Y employees? What evidence can you provide to support your conclusion?

14

Explaining Employee Choices

- Expectancy theory

- ↳ The idea that the effort employees put into their work depends on expectations about their own ability to perform, expectations about likely rewards, and the attractiveness of those rewards

proposed by Victor Vroom of the Yale School of Management

15

Expectancy Theory

16

Explaining Employee Choices

- Equity theory

↳ The idea that employees base their level of satisfaction on the ratio of their inputs to the job and the outputs or rewards they receive from it

If a person perceives an inequity, the person will be motivated to reduce or eliminate the tension and perceived inequity.

17

Motivating with Challenging Goals

- Goal-setting theory

↳ A motivational theory suggesting that setting goals can be an effective way to motivate employees

Motivating with Challenging Goals (cont.)

- Goals should be specific enough to give employees clarity and focus.
- Goals should be difficult enough to inspire energetic and committed effort.
- There should be clear “ownership” of goals so that accountability can be established.
- Individuals’ should have belief in their ability to meet their goals.

19

Management by Objectives

- Management by objectives (MBO)
 - A motivational approach in which managers and employees work together to structure personal goals and objectives for every individual, department, and project to mesh with the organization's goals

Management by Objectives

1. Setting goals

Top managers work with middle managers, then middle managers work with first-line managers to develop goals for their respective work groups. At the same time, managers and employees at all levels collaborate with their supervisors to set individual goals for performance.

2. Planning action

Managers determine exactly how their individual and group goals will be accomplished. To ensure that goals are reached on time, a schedule is prepared for the action plan.

3. Implementing plans

Managers and employees implement their plans in their own way, which allows them to control their own performance. Their expertise gets channeled for the benefit of the organization, and they have more opportunities to develop their professional skills.

4. Reviewing performance

Managers periodically review the performance of the people they supervise and evaluate how well the plans are achieving group and individual goals. Obstacles and strategies for overcoming them are identified. Old goals may be modified or new goals established. Achievement is recognized and rewarded.

22

Examples of Good OKRs

Increase our recurring revenue

- The share of monthly subscriptions increased to 85%
- Average subscription size of at least $295 per month
- Reduce churn to less than 1% monthly

Improve internal employee engagement

- Average weekly satisfaction score of at least 4.8 points
- Conduct weekly Fun Fridays all-hands meetings with an external speaker
- Implement OKR's in all teams and departments by January 31st

Risks and Limitations of Goal-Setting Theory

- Overly narrow goals
- Overly challenging goals
- Inappropriate time horizons
- Unintentional performance limitations
- Missed learning opportunities
- Unhealthy internal competition
- Decreased intrinsic motivation

25

Redesigning Jobs to Stimulate Performance

- Job characteristics model
 - ↳ A model suggesting that five core job dimensions influence three critical psychological states that determine motivation, performance, and other outcomes

26

Job Characteristics Model

Critical Psychological States

- ✓ Experienced meaningfulness of the work
- ✓ Experienced responsibility for results
- ✓ Knowledge of actual results

27

Has the requirement of working in teams ever lowered your motivation or satisfaction on a school project?

If so, how does the job characteristics model explain this?

28

Approaches to Modifying Core Job Dimensions

- Job enrichment
 - ↳ Making jobs more challenging and interesting by expanding the range of skills required
- Cross-training
 - ↳ Training workers to perform multiple jobs and rotating them through these various jobs to combat boredom or burnout

29

Reinforcing High-Performance Behavior

- Reinforcement theory
 - A motivational approach based on the idea that managers can motivate employees by influencing their behaviors with positive and negative reinforcement

30

Types of Reinforcement

- Positive reinforcement
 - Encouraging desired behaviors by offering pleasant consequences for completing or repeating those behaviors
- Negative reinforcement
 - ↳ Encouraging the repetition of a particular behavior (desirable or not) by removing unpleasant consequences for the behavior

"WOULDN'T IT BE EASIER JUST TO TELL ME WHAT I CAN DO?"

31

Reinforcement and Punishment

32

Motivational Strategies

- Providing timely and frequent feedback
- Personalizing motivational efforts
- Adapting to circumstances and special needs
- Tackling workplace problems before they have a chance to destroy morale
- Being inspirational leaders
